FRANK E. LANGLEY, Publisher

A Vermonteer heads the Atlantic fleet of the United States just at the time when the fleet is likely to be called upon to do efficient service on the eastern coast of Mexico. Admiral Henry T. Mayo, formerly of Burlington, who took command of the fleet on June 19, finds himself immediately thrust into very responsible work at the very outset of his command. Admiral Mayo is good for it.

When it comes to the question of writing notes, General Pershing is somewhat adept, as witness his little statement in reply to the Mexican ultimatum to get out of Mexico. Pershing took his pen in his hand and wrote: "I take orders only from my government; please make that plain to General Carranza." 'Tis the soldier's word and not to be doubted. Every American expects General Pershing to live up to his word.

Patriotism is not confined merely to the men who don the khaki and shoulder the rifle. It can extend to those employers who are willing to keep the places open to the men who have responded to the call to arms. A great many employers throughout the United States have given evidence of their patriotism by announcing their determination to hold the places for the men as they return home from service in behalf of the country. If every employer would guarantee the same, it would prove to be a great help to the government.

The Verdun campaign is four months old, and the Germans are no nearer than four miles of the point which they set out to take inside of four weeks, while they have sustained casualties which are conservatively estimated to be 350,000 men. As the Germans press nearer, the French defense becomes stiffer; and the attackers' casualties must grow in proportion to the solidity of the defense. Even now, the slow progress and at such great cost must be one of the greatest disappointments of Kaiser Wilhelm's life, to say nothing of possible complete failure of his plans to take the city. France is holding out marvellously well for a nation which was said to have exhausted practically all its reserves some time ago.

AN INSPIRATION TO THE VERMONT SOLDIERS.

One of the most touching incidents in the departure of the various companies of the Vermont National Guard from their home stations was the presence of delegations of veterans who gathered to give a send-off to the boys who were standing where they, the veterans, stood many years ago. The veterans of the Civil war and the veterans of the more recent trouble with Spain well knew the feelings that dominated the militiamen as they said good-bye to their homes and their people. The soldiers knew not how long their services would be required or whether they would be sent into actual battle against the Mexicans, but they knew that they might be headed toward a long service and a smell of powder in a real engagement. Added to that was the solemnity of leaving home and relatives and friends; and the leave-taking was made none the easier by the tearfulness of those left behind. Therefore the presence of the veterans—the aged veterans and those of far less years—had a tendency to brace the men up and to inspire them with a pronounced degree of patriotism, to encourage them to go and give their service to their country as hundreds of thousands of men had done in years gone by. The sight of the veterans must have been an inspiration to the boys as they marched along to the stations and entrained for the mobilization ground near Fort Ethan Allen. And the memory of those veterans will abide with the soldiers as long as they remain in the service of the United States. It was a splendid service which the veterans performed, unconsciously performed, for the benefit of the newest defenders of the nation, even though they may not be called into battle and even though their stay under arms be short.

It's Wonderful How Resinol Stops Itching

To those who have endured for years the itching torments of eczema or other such skin eruptions, the relief that the first use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap usually gives is incredible. After all the suffering they have endured and all the useless treatments they have spent good money for, they cannot believe anything so simple, mild and inexpensive can stop the itching and burning INSTANTLY. And they find it still more wonderful that the improvement is permanent and that Resinol really drives away the eruption completely in a very short time. Perhaps there is a pleasant surprise like this in store for you. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists.

A Good Soap For Baby Skin
A good baby soap should contain soothing, healing properties to prevent the rashes and chafings to which babies are liable. That is why so many physicians recommend Resinol Soap.

Charles Whitney, a summer boarder staying at a house on the Montpelier road, is at the City hospital recovering from an attack of heart failure with which he was stricken in Depot square a few days ago. Although at first the man's condition was considered serious, his recovery now seems assured.

The funeral of Miss Olga Quattropoli, only daughter of Mrs. Mary Quattropoli of Third street, whose death Tuesday evening followed an illness of two weeks, was held in St. Monica's church Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the parish priest, Rev. P. M. McKenna, officiating. There was a large gathering of the little girl's schoolmates and many friends of the family attended the services. The bearers were: Francis Griffin, Albert Bonazzoli, Edgar Beaulieu and Raymond Tondreau. A profuse floral tribute included several stoupees. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery on Beckley street.

Through the mediation of his father, little Daniel McBayne, aged 10, sentenced yesterday to pass the remainder of his minority at the state industrial school in Vergennes, was given a new lease of life in his home city by Magistrate H. W. Scott. Mr. McBayne learned of the lad's detention at city court and hastened to explain to the judge that he would exercise a watchful influence over the boy in the future. The youngster's parole is to continue during good behavior. No one interested for Leslie Aiken, aged 10, who was charged with complicity in systematic shoplifting carried on by the pair, and last night he was confined to the care of the county sheriff, who will transfer him to the school.

WOODMEN HAD FIELD DAY.

Large Crowd Attended Festivities at Essex Junction.
Essex Junction, June 23.—The annual Vermont State Log Rolling association and field day of the M. W. of A. was held here yesterday afternoon with Ethan Allen camp, No. 16332. About 1,200 were in attendance including about 500 uniformed Woodmen. The program was carried out practically as has been printed, although through lack of time, some of the sports were cancelled.

At the business meeting in the forenoon officers were elected as follows: President, William Thynne of Burlington; vice-president, C. A. Barber of Winoski; secretary, M. W. Johnson; treasurer, H. A. Glendon of St. Johnsbury; major, 140th battalion, J. L. Jones.
The afternoon program opened with the address of welcome given by O. S. Nichols, village president, and the speakers were pleasingly introduced by Allen Martin, who acted as toastmaster. The speakers were State Deputy A. O. Palmer, State Lecturer M. P. Maurice, Rev. R. H. Washburn and Rev. Charles E. Baker.

In the competitive drill by uniformed teams only two entered: Alpha camp, No. 7227, of Burlington, commanded by Edward Crawford, total score 69.9, and Ironquois camp, No. 8,940, Winoski, commanded by C. A. Lavalie, total score 82.9, the Winoski team thus winning and being pronounced the champion of the state of Vermont.

The parade was commanded by State Marshal J. L. Jones, assisted by A. P. Tanner and Charles A. Barber. Uniformed teams from Burlington, Winoski, Morrisville, St. Johnsbury, Wolcott and Waterbury took part.

The Essex Junction band under the leadership of G. H. Lock furnished excellent music for the marching and exercises and were highly commended.
